Godlewski v. Alvear et al

Rothenberg and Campbell (attorneys for Alvear) filed a 516 page Motion to Dismiss.

That's right, 516 pages.

And they didn't even know Alvear posted billboards and flew planes in Pennsylvania 😂

Kolman Law (attorneys for Godlewski) will file their response within the their response within the next 21 days.

Zero percent chance this case gets dismissed before discovery. Most of the arguments made by Alvear's attorneys are for Summary Judgement, which comes well after Discovery and Depositions.

This filing was made completely out of order, lacked basis in the facts of Alvear's Defamation, and seemingly cost Nick a LOT of money to file.

More to come in the

Also, if you're bored and you want to read the 516 pages above, you'll likely notice that Alvear has not told his attorneys the truth, and has instead attempted to paint himself in a positive light in THEIR eyes.

Nick is digging the hole deeper and deeper by the day.

This is going to be a very interesting case to watch.

Godlewski v. Alvear et al

Desperation is setting in for Nick Alvear.

After claiming to be a multimillionaire just a month prior, and essentially begging Godlewski to sue him, Nick now is forced to swallow his pride and ask his mailing list to help support his lawsuit defense.

The irony here is that the email says "I've decided to defend myself". Yeah, that's generally what you have to do when you get sued in Federal Court. It
